PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dear Parents/Whanau,

We are just three weeks away from the end of another school year. In classes the children will be working away on their learning right up until the last day of school, as it is so important to make the most of every teaching opportunity that is available to us; if the children are at school, the focus should always primarily be on learning and achievement. This could come in different forms, such as a class trip to help plan, have an exciting experience, then to reflect on and write about.

Once school finishes on the 20th of December there are ways in which the learning can continue, such as visiting the town library, taking part in the holiday library reading programmes, reading to children at night (or have them read to you), having dinner table conversations, visiting local attractions such as Aratoi, the Tararua forest park, and so much more. There is something called 'summer lag', which refers to learning being lost over the summer holidays. Doing that little bit of learning at home over the break is a sure fire way of preventing that 'summer lag' from happening.

Principal
